Incoming students to Murray State will audition on their primary instrument – should meet the same expectations we have for incoming MUED students.

Students will begin music study as a BA/BS Music major. Interested students should take MUS 140 Introduction to Composition in their first spring semester. Near the end of that (and subsequent) semester(s), students can apply for a spot in the composition studio, receiving private one-on-one instruction from a professor (2-credit lessons). Near the end of a student's first semester of private study, they can make their official application to be a composition major (usually near the end of their 3rd semester). If they are admitted, student
